

for MARK HARTLEY

At this time, will you please take a moment to turn your cell phones to “silent” or “off” and refrain from text messaging during the program in consideration of our speaker and our audience. If you have your laptop open right now, please put it away. Thank you.

My name is (your name). I am (your leadership position and organization), and it’s my pleasure to welcome you. This program is sponsored by (list organizations).

Our speaker today is Mark Hartley. Mark has two master’s degrees; one in Business Management and one in Higher Education.

As an undergraduate, Mark was a founding father of his fraternity; a member of his university’s football and baseball teams; the recipient of the Outstanding Senior of the Year Award, as well as the Senior Homecoming King. And he is the author of the highly acclaimed book series, If I Knew Then What I Know Now...

From 2004 to 2007, Mark was the Director of Greek Life at the University of Redlands where his primary goal was to increase the Greek cumulative GPA and to improve the Greek community’s image on campus. During this time, he helped a fledgling Greek community raise their overall GPA from a 2.71 to a 3.15. Currently, Mark is the Director of Student Leadership and Development at Cal State San Bernardino in Southern California.

You may have seen Mark in such movies as Terminator 3 with Arnold Schwarzenegger and First Daughter with Katie Holmes.

His topic this afternoon is entitled SNAFU: Greeks and Grades.

Please give a warm welcome to our speaker Mr. Mark Hartley!
